1. At the end of June a labor brigade of some 800 men, which had been sent to Krk Island in April, was transferred to Banja Luka. The area in which they had been working on the island was one and one-half kilometers southwest of Aleksandrovo, which had been evacuated.
2. The work consists of three concrete underground chambers, each 42 meters long, running northwest to southeast with an earthen shaft at the northwest end. Two parallel sets of narrow rails have been laid down in the chambers and a primitive elevator installed in the southeast end of each. The working area is surrounded with barbed wire.
3. On 25 June a group of 80 technicians, including some Germans, arrived in Krk by sea from Dubrovnik. Two days after their arrival they were in Aleksandrovo but were not allowed to mix with the workers.
